

WELCOME TO SUNSET CLUB

SUNSET CLUB

Founded in 1913, Sunset Club's history is deeply intertwined with Seattle's own history, traditions, and culture. It is believed to be one of the first such institutions created on the North American West Coast: an invitational social organization for and by women, committed to advancing the cultural, educational, and social wellbeing of its members, their friends, families, and community. It has accomplished this over the decades through social gatherings, lectures, performances, and other events.

Sunset Club offers elegant overnight accommodations that offer a one-of-a-kind experience in our Georgian clubhouse. Wake up to fine dining in bed, then do your morning reading in the Club's library before exploring Seattle. Here's a glimpse at our clubhouse.

—OUR NEIGHBORHOOD—

Sunset Club is proudly located in Seattle's First Hill—the city's first residential neighborhood. The founders of Sunset Club lived in this neighborhood and envisioned a Clubhouse that would be centered in the heart of the city. For more than 100 years, Sunset Club has called First Hill home. Nestled in between downtown Seattle and Capitol Hill, there's plenty to see and do nearby.

—ABOUT THE CLUBHOUSE—

The clubhouse at 1021 University Street, designed by Joseph Coté, was completed in 1915, one of the first along the West Coast specifically planned to house a women's club. The wing with the Ballroom and Garden Court was added in 1924 when the clubhouse expansion took over the existing gardens.

In 1974, Pacific Northwest artist Leo Adams created extraordinary Chinoiserie paintings on canvas for the Ballroom walls. These paintings are the centerpieces of Sunset Club's commitment to the Georgian style.

Sunset Club's fine dining includes varied lunch and dinner options but nothing is as decadent as breakfast in bed, prepared by Executive Chef Ruben Soto. The menu includes hot and delicious items like a breakfast sandwich on a brioche bun with bacon, egg, and cheese. Or how about the veggie omelet with sautéed onions, asparagus, spinach, tomatoes, cheddar cheese and served with Club potatoes? From satisfying parfaits to scones and fruit, fine dining in bed is part of the Sunset Club overnight guest experience.

ABOUT THE EXECUTIVE CHEF

The dining industry has taken me along the West Coast to Oregon, Alaska, and Washington, where I was able to expand my knowledge in a variety of cuisines. My culinary passion is Italian cuisine. The best Italian cuisine needs to be made from scratch, which requires patience and diligence. It requires non-processed components and only the freshest and highest quality ingredients that contribute to its richness and simplicity.

Dining at Sunset Club is special for so many reasons. Seasonal menus are created with members in mind. Our daily lunch and weekly dinner menus feature the highest quality ingredients. Members and guests expect excellence, and our fine dining team strives to exceed those expectations with every meal we prepare at Sunset Club.
